

A Summer Retreat in the North Woods

Sponsored by the Mindfulness Community of Milwaukee

Living Happily in the Present Moment

Transforming our store consciousness: Working with seeds

The dates of this retreat are from the evening of Sunday, August 6 (dinner will be served at 5 pm and retreat proper starts at 7:30 pm) through the afternoon of Friday, August 11, 2017 (after lunch, 1:30 pm), at the Christine Center, Willard, Wisconsin. The members of the Mindfulness Community of Milwaukee are happy to provide this retreat. We are all practitioners in the tradition of the Vietnamese monk, Thich Nhat Hanh. The retreat will follow formats similar to ones that Thich Nhat Hanh has led previously. There will be time for meditation, dharma talks, discussion groups, as well as bodywork and outdoor walking.

The Christine Center is a beautiful spiritual retreat nestled in the north woods. For information, see their website (www.christinecenter.org). It is about two hours from Green Bay, three hours from Madison or Minneapolis, or four hours from Milwaukee. For directions, you may look at "Driving-to-the-Christine-Center" on our website (www.milwaukee mindfulness.org) or the Christine Center's site.

The price for the retreat is $275-$420, depending on the accommodations and includes all meals. For more information or to register, please contact the Mindfulness Community of Milwaukee, 1922 East Park Pl., Milwaukee, WI 53211. For retreat information or questions, email retreatregistration@milwaukee mindfulness.com
